A Kingsway Solution?

E-BUSINESS

With Kingsway Computing Solutions Inc and Progress (tm) Software Products.

If you have tried to E-power your business, and have got mired down, have the need but not the technology, the budget but the lack of skilled expertise, too many disparate data repositories, or you are simply dreading the thought of transforming your traditional business processes to e-business models, then Kingsway Computing has truly the answer for you.

Since the inception of Progress Webspeed, we at Kingsway Computing have applied a great deal of energy and honest to goodness insightful thought processes, to getting data to and from the web to do or die corporate data activity.

The Kingsway Computing web enabled e-business platform, can rapidly assist you and your corporation by supplying a full solution to allow your services and products to be monitored, adjusted, purchased and processed on the web.

By drastically reducing the critical enabling process - simply bringing your needs to the web, we will empower you to accelerate your deployment of mission-critical e-business applications - rapidly.

HOW WE WORK

We analyse your current requirements with a long term view in mind.

Our philosophy is to get a working model of user login and basic data display ready for beta testing, within 30 days. Once approved, we can then either further improve the process (with for example data entry and update on the web or e-mail status information update functions), or go live with the first tranche of functions, or both.

From here, we are happy to train your in house staff, in web enabling techniques, continue with further updates, or allow your company to adjust to the full implications of e-commerce before you proceed further.

METHODOLOGY

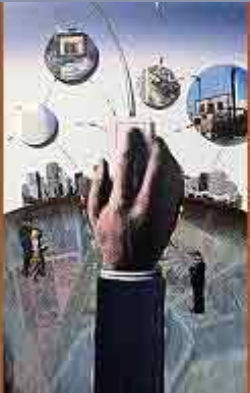

At Kingsway, wherever possible, we supply your in house resources with up to date concepts and methodologies to continue the process.

Having a working model ready to investigate enables these resources to quickly and efficiently comprehend and continue the re-architecture of your applications.

They will therefore be able to develop there own processes and direction and make their own checklist of recommendations to prepare your application for additional e-enablement.

Kingsways expert consultants can be available at subsequent decision points to work hand in hand with you, your staff and your executives. Our internet enabling process led by one of our Progress WebSpeed experts provides the best practices in approach, flexible and most important, final go-live product. The results: Robust, innovative e-business applications in a fraction of the development time you might expect.

Working with Kingsway Computing, you will soon realize the full benefit of a tried and tested approach to e-business with a tried and tested product - us!
